2020 Catalog
As the waves broke on the shores of Miami Beach a little girl picked up a few seashells from the sand and strung them with a string. A tourist bought the necklace from the little girl and Cappelli Straworld, Inc. was born.

It was the depression and the young girl inspired her grandmother with the sale of the necklace and the business grew as they began selling more items to the tourists visiting Miami. Her grandmother boarded a boat and brought back maracas, alligator handbags, embroidered clothes and accessories from Cuba, Mexico and Guatemala.

In the 50’s, the business continued to flourish and the company began importing from the Orient and Europe. In addition, Cappelli Straworld, Inc. opened their straw hat factory in Miami.

The Cappelli Straworld, Inc. story continues to this day with our creative design staff, providing the highest level of customer service with the wonderful support of the Dorfman Pacific team. We hope you will be a part of this marvelous enduring story.
Born in Albuquerque, New Mexico of Native American-Mexican decent I grew up feeling that artisanal craftsmanship came along with my heritage. At a young age my family moved to St. Petersburg, Florida and the sprawling white beaches quickly became my new home. I was blessed with a loving grandmother who was part artist, part seamstress and taught me how to sew, bead, and craft. We spent many weekends walking Fort Desoto beach collecting shells and washed pebbles to combine them with antique finds from vintage markets and garage sales to make our own beautiful creations. This love for the ocean, vintage Florida, and all things tropical is what led me to my career at Cappelli Straworld, Inc. As my first design job directly out of International Fine Arts College, Cappelli Straworld, Inc. was a wonderful place to start my career and use all of my love for the ocean and Florida to create the perfect hats and handbags for this heritage resort brand. After five years with the company, I left to work with Dorfman Pacific. Cappelli Straworld, Inc. became part of the Dorfman family in 2009 and 16 years later I have returned to design the Cappelli Straworld, Inc. collection. I feel it is like a homecoming for me to be back at the helm of this brand with so much rich history rooted in the places that I love. I am excited for the relaunch of the Cappelli Straworld, Inc. collection and can’t wait to be a part of the next 50 years of what this brand represents. Thank you for letting me be a part of your wardrobe,
Melissa Madden-Brown

Ever since I was a little girl I’ve been obsessed with fashion and always wanting the latest brands and styles. At San Diego State University, I studied business and fashion while simultaneously working at Nordstrom as an accessory merchandising manager. Working on the department store floor and seeing the merchandise coming in and selling quickly inspired me to take out my sewing machine to start creating my own hair accessories. Before long I was sourcing fabrics and trims, embellishing them with studs and rhinestones to create a beautiful collection and my first complete accessories line. Before I knew it, LD Trends was launched. After several months, I wanted to branch out into hat design and began taking millinery classes. They taught me to hand block, dye and trim hats. My hat designs soon began to take off, and shortly thereafter I was designing two lines per year, hired sales reps in different apparel marts and had moved the operation into my own warehouse and studio. LD Trends was officially born and was truly a handmade in the USA company.

Over the years, I have expanded my fashion palette and taken my design and sales expertise to other accessories brands. Most recently, I began collaborating with my longtime colleague and friend, Melissa Brown, on relaunching our 2019 Cappelli Straworld, Inc. line of handbags. We are thrilled to introduce an entirely new approach and vision that will bring Cappelli Straworld, Inc into the forefront of the fashion handbag industry.

Lisa Deluca-Zimmerman
Cappelli Straworld, Inc. heritage stems from the unique handcrafted handbags that have been a classic in many wardrobes for over 50 years. The collaborations of our designers and Artisan in the factories create these unique handcrafted elements that grace each bag. Each bead and strand of straw is hand dyed and hand crocheted into our beautiful bead handled bags. Our designers search the overwhelmingly crowded trim and fabric markets for just the right look for the totes and cross bodies. A lot of thought and passion for the craft is unveiled in our collections. We hope you enjoy wearing your bag as much as we enjoy making it.
